

Gianessi Presents at Syngenta's Jealott's Hill Research Centre

On September 12, CropLife Foundation consultant, Leonard Gianessi presented his talk on the Importance of Pesticides for Feeding the World at a staff science seminar at Syngenta's Jealott's Hill Research Centre in the UK. The presentation was organized by Philip Wege, Biology Support Group Leader, who noted that Leonard's talk was the first seminar to exclusively focus on the benefits of using pesticides with all the other talks having focused on regulatory or risk issues. One of the attendees at Leonard's talk was recently retired Syngenta staffer Paul Hendley, a past recipient of CLA's industry workhorse award. Paul is doing consulting and now lives in the UK.
