

Herbicide Presentation at WSSA Annual Meeting

On February 6, Leonard Gianessi presented a talk at the Weed Science Society of America (WSSA) Annual Meeting in Baltimore, MD. Leonard presented a shortened version of his new talk about feeding the world. He focused on the enormous contribution that weed control with herbicides makes in providing food security throughout the world. An abstract of Leonard's talk will be available on WSSA's website:

<http://wssa.net/Meetings/WSSAAbstracts/abstractsearch.php>

From left to right: Leonard Gianessi (CLF); Barb Glenn (CLA); Jim Kells (Michigan State-incoming WSSA president); Dwight Lingenfelter (Penn State University); and Scott Glenn (University of Maryland).