

Foundation Presentation to Science Ambassadors at Dow AgroSciences

On July 17, CropLife Foundation consultant Leonard Gianessi presented his talk on Consumers and the Need for Pesticides as part of an extended discussion with Dow Agrosciences staff who serve as Science Ambassadors promoting STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) education to students, parents and teachers. Leonard's visit was organized by Dow R&D communications specialist Jenna Marston.

Leonard presenting to
Dow AgroSciences
Science Ambassadors

Leonard with
Jenna Marston